

Society for the Anthropology of Consciousness Spring 2009 Annual Meeting

Call for Papers

Theme: Bridging Nature and Human Nature

The Society for the Anthropology of Consciousness welcomes proposals for papers and panels for its Annual Meeting, to be held April 1-5, 2009 at McMenamins historic Edgefield Resort at the entrance to the beautiful Columbia River Gorge in Portland, Oregon.

This conference – with its emphasis on the "bridge" theme – represents a rallying together of groups forming an interdisciplinary coalition to help reassess science and culture and the interface between technology and nature. Possible topics for panels include:

- The History and Future of Ecopsychology
- Bateson, Postmodernism and Shamanism
- Entheogens and the Legacy of Albert Hofmann
- Cross-Cultural Inquiries of Eco-Dreaming and Eco-Anthropology
- Mind/body Approaches to Biomedicine and Medical Anthropology
- Psi and Species-Connectedness
- Mythology, Folklore
- Poetry and Ecocriticism
- Landscapes of Consciousness and Paleolithic Cave Art
- Ethnomethodology.

Papers dealing with other topics are also welcomed.

Please email proposals to John Baker at Johnbaker@veccd.edu by December 15, 2008.
